The workshop on Research Advances in Organizational Behavior and Human Resources Management will be held in Paris Dauphine, France, May 17 to 19, 2011. We invite researchers and PhD students to submit papers for presentation. See below for further details concerning the workshop schedule and the submission process.

Workshop schedule

We invite submissions of papers relating to any of the following topics: work motivation, workplace commitment, organizational justice, organizational trust, diversity, social exchange theories, employment relationships, leadership, compensation management, and socialization. Papers exploring new questions in OB-HRM research are also encouraged.

We welcome papers taking either a theoretical or an empirical perspective on these topics. Submission can be research in progress, a draft manuscript, or a paper that is ready to be submitted to a journal. PhD students can present advances in a doctoral research project for discussion and feedback. All papers selected for presentation will be reviewed and commented on by two of the invited guests.

Authors will have 20 minutes to present their research. This will be followed by 25 minutes for discussion, including specific feedback from invited guests and an open discussion with the audience.

The workshop will also include conferences and Ph-D session for “junior paper”.

Language: English

Submission process

Please confirm your intention to participate in the workshop by submitting a title and 10-20 line abstract by February 15, 2011 by email to: workshopOB2011@dauphine.fr. The deadline for the submission of full papers is March 15, 2011.

The format for full papers is Microsoft Word for Windows, Times New Roman 12, double-spaced, 15 to 30 pages (including reference list, tables, and figures). Papers must be written in English.

Contributions accepted for presentation and discussion are selected by the Organizing Committee. Acceptances will be communicated to authors by April 4, 2011.
